The navigation menu includes: EMI Courses & Schedule, EMI Students & Instructors, Apply, Programs & Activities, Independent Study (highlighted with a green outline), and Contact Us. The 'Independent Study' link is described as 'Online courses available free of charge'. Social media icons for Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn, YouTube, and RSS are visible at the bottom right.

The screenshot shows the FEMA Emergency Management Institute Independent Study Program (IS) page. A maintenance notice is displayed: "We will be performing scheduled maintenance on Friday, May 31, 2019 at 7:00 AM EST. This will be an EXTENDED OUTAGE. Service is expected to be restored by 4:00 PM EST. However, this could run over. During this time Independent Study exams will not be available. Please contact us if you experience any issues outside of this maintenance window." Below the notice is a "Distance Learning" section with a search bar and a "Search IS" button. A sidebar on the left contains links: IS Home, IS Course List (highlighted with a red outline), Register for a FEMA SID (highlighted with a purple outline), Critical Infrastructure Security and Resilience, Curriculum, and Frequently Asked Questions. The main content area displays "Total Active Courses: 210" and lists "Calendar Year Extensions" for May and April. The May section includes a link for "IS-2200 - Basic Emergency Operations Center Functions" with a "New" tag and date "5/17/2019". The April section notes "No new courses in April — See Entire Course List".

If you have never taken an IS course before, you will need to register for a FEMA Student Identification (SID) Number (see purple outline above). To do this, click and follow the link provided. Once you have the SID Number, you can access the IS Course List (red outline above). Once the course is located, you can search for the course by simply typing in IS-1002 and clicking the "Search IS" button. Once it is located, click on the course title to access the training.
